ABOUT ME:

---

I am curious about how things are working at the core computer level, Hi I am Sujal Nimje I am under graduate at RCOEM in computer science engineering, mainly on focusing reactjs development did projects like notes app with backend as a service using appwrite with these project I can showcase my expertise in frontend development

SKILLS:

- reactjs, tailwind css, backend with appwrite, redux, nodejs, express, java, python

PROJECTS :

---

Notes App

Web Development | frontend development
about the project

- technologies used :- react, react hook forms, react loader, redux, appwrite backend, tailwind css
- Understanding Project :- the project is about to store the notes written by the user it provides handy experiment I also include responsiveness in it so that it can run on mobiles also I also used some of the best practices such as all the components must have one props as className and also all the components are reusable also it has login signup functionality such that all the users can have separate space
- you can find these project on :- <https://devsujal.github.io/notes-app/>

Weather App

Web Development | frontend development
about the project

- technologies used :- react, redux tailwind css
- Understanding Project :- I have made the project to showcase the weather off different cities I am calling a free url of weather and using the data. These project shows my api handling skills in react
